To Whom it May Concern

I have known Erin this year while she has attended Kindergarten. She is a friendly and happy child who enjoys working and playing with her peers.

Erin is very creative and has a good imagination. She loves to make up stories and tell about her favourite possessions.

She is beginning to develop a sight word vocabulary and is sounding out simple unknown words. She participates in discussions about literature.

Erin has made many friends and shows a caring approach towards others.

Yours sincerely,

Deborah Dempsey
