To whom it may concern,

Dear sir/madam,

I had the pleasure of teaching James Coomans in 2007 for his Year 3 year at Ellison Public School.

During the time James was in my class, he exhibited nothing but exemplary behaviour, commitment and enthusiasm for all aspects of his school life. He also showed and a high standard of achievement in all areas of his work, particularly in Maths. James was presented with an achievement award for his effort and results in Maths at our school Presentation Day at the end of last year.

James had a great relationship with his peers and was an excellent role model for the class.

He willingly involved himself in all class and school activities, whether it was academic, sporting or Creative and Practical Art-based.

James was an enthusiastic member of the school choir, and as the choir conductor, I was always impressed with his performance, commitment to attend rehearsals and all out-of-school events.

His brother John was also a committed choir member when he was a student at Ellison Public School. He capably represented the school as part of the Pulse Choir which performed at the Sydney Opera House last year.

In all sporting activities James was a capable participant and a wonderful team player. His skill at T-ball is excellent.

It is Ellison's loss that The Coomans family is moving away from the area.

I know without a doubt that James will be an asset to any school and class that is fortunate to have him as one of their students.

Yours faithfully,

Mrs Gail Murray
