To whom it may concern,

I have taught John Coomans this year at Winmalee High School. As his Geography teacher, I have observed John comfortably make the transition from primary to secondary school.

John is an enthusiastic student who has exhibited a range of talents in the subject. His work has been consistently of a high standard. John has displayed an impressive level of independence in his approach to learning. John's mild mannered and responsible approach to lessons has also ensured that his presence in the classroom has been appreciated.

I will be disappointed to see John leave our school. I'm sure he would have played a significant leadership role here in the future. John will be an asset to any school which he attends.
